Drug death 'homicide'

By Meg Tebo
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — The drug-induced death of a Madison man in December was a homicide, a coroner's jury ruled Thursday.

But law enforcement officials have expressed surprise at the verdict.

Although the jury recommended that investigation into the death of Mickey G. Eller Jr. continue, police and coroner's officials said they are not certain that enough evidence was presented to indicate homicide.

Eller, 38, died Dec. 7 of what a pathologist called "morphine toxicity." He was found dead in his pickup truck at Fifth Street and Alton Avenue in Madison.

"I don't think (the jury) clearly understood the directions. I think they believed they had to return a cause of death and didn't know that they could find 'undetermined.' I think the verdict should have been 'undetermined,'" said Lt. Paul Bargiel of the Madison Police Department.

"I drove home from the courthouse with one of the jurors and I asked him why. He said that some of the jurors thought they had to make a determination (of homicide, suicide or accidental death)," Bargiel said.

But Deputy Madison County Coroner Ralph Baahmann, who presided over the inquest hearing, said the same jury had returned an "undetermined" verdict in a different case earlier in the day, and he had no reason to believe that the jurors didn't understand their instructions.

"They get a written copy of the instructions, they're read the instructions at each hearing ... I'm not going to second-guess them. But apparently they found enough evidence to rule as they did. Yeah, I was surprised, but I'm not going to say the finding was inappropriate," said Baahmann.

Bargiel said that while the case is still being kept open, there are no specific suspects.

"There are a few people we'd like to talk to, but we're not willing to call this a homicide right now. We don't know what it is, at this point in the ongoing investigation," Bargiel said.

He would not elaborate on who the department is seeking other than to say that no family members are suspected.

Drifter indicted in Pendleton murder

By Ed Gurney
Staff writer

TROY — A Texas man accused of a murder in Troy Feb. 9 had restrained and beaten a Troy woman in the days before the killing, law enforcement officials revealed last week.

The suspect, Lloyd Hampton, 36, a "drifter," was indicted by a Madison County grand jury Thursday for three counts of murder, plus home invasion and armed violence, in connection with the death of Roy "Jasper" Pendleton, 69, formerly of Granite City.

Hampton was also charged with two counts of armed violence, aggravated battery and two counts of aggravated unlawful restraint in connection with the incident involving the Troy woman.

The indictment replaces earlier murder charges filed against Hampton.

Assistant State's Attorney Todd Taplin said Hampton allegedly beat the woman with a hammer and bound her with yarn. Hampton allegedly

Husband charged in Bronx murder

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

THE BRONX, N.Y. — A grand jury has returned a charge of second-degree murder against the husband of a former Venice woman.

Her mutilated body was found burning Jan. 8 in a seedy commercial section of the South Bronx.

The dead woman was Catherine (Fonce) Claude, 30, a graduate of St. Mary-St. Mark's grade school in Venice. Her husband, John Claude, 32, was arrested Jan. 13 and had been held without bond pending grand jury proceedings.

Bail is still being denied following Claude's indictment Thursday, said a spokesman for the Bronx district attorney.

Claude entered a plea of not guilty. The case goes to trial March 8.

Police had sought him for several days after Catherine Claude's employer, a Wall Street bank, reported her missing Jan. 9. Bloodstains were found in the family car, police said.

Crane hits man's head

GRANITE CITY — An Edwardsville man is in intensive care after being struck in the head by a crane at Granite City Steel Friday.

William R. Channey, 28, an employee of Guarantee Electrical Co. of St. Louis, was leaning over a platform at the Cold Rolling Mill Friday morning, lowering an extension ladder to the ground by a rope, when an overhead crane struck him in the head, said Granite City Steel spokesman Bob Maxwell.

Channey was rescued by the Granite City Fire Department using an aerial ladder and taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

He was immediately transferred by helicopter to St. Louis University Medical Center, a Level I trauma center.

A spokesman for the medical center said Channey remained in critical condition in the Intensive Care Unit on Saturday morning.

EPA asked to delay Taracorp cleanup

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Local officials have asked the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for more time to study the economic and health impact of the Taracorp lead contamination.

Three mayors — Von Dee Cruse of Granite City, John Belkoff of Madison and Tyrone Echols of Venice — met with state Rep. Sam Wolf on Friday to discuss preparation of a joint study and response to the EPA's cleanup proposal for lead contaminated areas in the three cities.

Cruse said the EPA has agreed "99.9 percent" to a two- to three-week extension of the public comment period in order to allow the communities to assess the local situation.

An EPA spokesman said Friday she couldn't confirm the extension, but that "extensions are not unheard of."

The cities, Cruse said, must be allowed time to look at the contamination problem and its local impact. He said the planned cleanup would be very disruptive to both residents and business.

"We think (the cleanup) is really a very, very serious problem," Cruse said. "The EPA has already created a serious problem by coming in and focusing media and public attention on the contamination."

The EPA's proposal for cleaning up the contamination calls for digging up battery casings used as paving material in Venice alleys and as fill in Eagle Park, and digging up casings from an area close to the Taracorp pile in the 1500 block of State Street.

It also calls for removal of the top six inches of soil from residential yards in large areas of Granite City and Madison where lead levels have been measured at 800 parts per million or above.

The dug-up areas would be re-covered with sod or asphalt. The contaminated soil and casing material would be added to the present Taracorp pile and the pile would be permanently sealed.

Wolf said he has been involved with the Taracorp problem since 1982 and that a public hearing on the problem was held in September 1983.

"We decided the best solution to the problem

'... They're telling us at the EPA that there is enough lead in the dirt to make it dangerous if you eat it. ... Even if they hadn't found lead in the dirt, I wouldn't eat it.'

— Mayor Von Dee Cruse

City council statement planned

GRANITE CITY — The City Council is expected to make a formal response to the proposed Taracorp lead cleanup Tuesday night.

Fourth Ward Alderman Dan Brown, chairman of the Inter-governmental Committee, said Friday he is preparing a proposal for the aldermen to consider and will have a committee meeting on the proposed response Monday. He said the response will be presented to the aldermen at a meeting at 6 p.m. Tuesday, just prior to the City Council Meeting.

Brown said one of the issues is two studies that show the level of lead found in soil in Granite City presents no significant health hazard and found no elevated levels of lead in residents' blood.

"But despite these findings, the EPA has taken it upon themselves to tear up a major part of the city," Brown said. "The health of our citizens is paramount. But there should be no cleanup until blood tests are done to see if there really are problems. If there are, then it should be cleaned up and money set aside to take care of the people who have health problems."

Brown said he is "very disappointed" with the EPA for not having made the city a part of its planning process. He said that since the public was to try to get it on the U.S. EPA Superfund list, which we did," Wolf said. "... We have to keep working with the EPA. They will provide 90 percent of the funding to get it cleaned up."

"However, there is a question of public health, whether 500 ppm (of lead) constitutes a health hazard. We're asking for a delay to determine if that is an accurate statistic to use."

Cruse said the EPA hasn't shown him any studies to indicate a level of danger meriting tearing up yards.

He said further public health studies are needed. He indicated the Illinois Department of Public Health would be asked to do some further studies during the requested delay.

"I don't know of any dirt that's good enough to eat," Cruse said. "But that's what they're telling us at the EPA, that there is enough lead in the dirt to make it dangerous if you eat it."

"I'm sure, if you looked for them, there are other chemicals in dirt that make it no good to eat. But they're looking for lead. Even if they hadn't found lead in the dirt, I wouldn't eat it."

Cruse said he and the other mayors aren't saying they won't work with the EPA. "We're not going to run them out of town or anything, put up a fence and tell them don't come in."

Cleanup of the contamination is essential, Cruse said, and the EPA is the only one with the expertise, money and other resources to do it.

"We just want to make damn sure this is really necessary first," Cruse said. "... They haven't shown me statistics that say that."

TWO-CAR ACCIDENT: A car driven by Ruth E. Holman of the 2500 block of East 23rd Street rests on the front steps of a home in the 2400 block of Nameoki Road after the vehicle was struck by a car and spun out of control at 9:20 a.m. Thursday. Holman, 59, was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where she was treated and released. Linda M. Ward, 41, of the 2200 block of Cleveland Boulevard was driving east on Edwards Street, started across the highway and apparently failed to see the Holman car, which was traveling north on Nameoki Road, authorities said.

Crack and gun are recovered

VENICE — Pieces of crack cocaine, white powder and a weapon were recovered from an alley behind a tavern in the 300 block of Weaver Street, police reported at 11:45 p.m. Feb. 12.

Officers investigated after a resident called police, saying he'd heard glass breaking and saw three men who might be selling drugs in an alley. When a patrolman drove into the alley and another patrolman covered the front, the three men apparently saw the squad car and ran. All three were captured and searched; none had any drugs, police said.

A search was made of the alley area and a small bottle with seven pieces of white rock substance believed to be crack cocaine inside was found in a side yard of the tavern.

A .32 caliber Smith and Wesson revolver containing four live rounds was discovered next to a wall of a nearby shed.

Along with the weapon was a plastic bag containing 19 pieces of a white rock substance believed to be crack cocaine. The pieces were individually wrapped in small plastic bags.

Also in the larger bag was a small bag holding four pieces of a white powdery substance and two more pieces of a white rock substance which were unwrapped. The white powder was suspected to be cocaine, an officer said.

No arrests were made in connection with the recovery of the drugs and handgun.

When Sharon L. Norton, 35, of Granite City asked him to stop using offensive language, he allegedly struck her in the face with his fist, damaging the victim's eye-glasses and causing swelling to her left cheek and near the eye.

Wallace allegedly started throwing chairs and overturning bar stools and tables until other patrons stopped him. In a court appearance the same day, he pleaded innocent and requested a jury trial. He posted $102 bail and was released.

Catholic Charities to recycle and sell goods

GRANITE CITY — Catholic Charities plans to recycle second-hand clothing and household articles in its Downstairs Treasure Shop at 2105 State St.

a.m. to noon for a pre-opening clearance sale.

Everything will be sold for amounts of 10 cents to $5.

Clifford and Maxine Duniphan of Chouteau Avenue have returned from McGee, Mo., where they attended the wedding of Duniphan's sister, Claudine Reed, to Wilfred (Steve) Walk.

The bride chose her cousin, Rosalee Williams, to be her matron of honor. The groom chose his brother, Edward Walk, as best man.

They were married at a 5 p.m. candlelight ceremony at Bright Prospect Church in McGee, where they had attended church as children.

The bride is a former Granite City area resident, who now makes her home in Wappapello, Mo. The groom is a Greenville, Mo., resident.

About 150 relatives and friends were present for the occasion. Following the ceremony, which was performed by former Granite City pastor the Rev. LeRoy Hefner, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church.

Lee and Velma Presley of Ashland Avenue are the great-grandparents of a baby girl born to their granddaughter, Kim

Maxine Duniphan

Martin, and her husband, Dale, of Bluebird Lane.

The baby, named Taylia Deneze, was born Feb. 6 at Jewish Hospital in St. Louis. She was 21-inches long and weighed 7 pounds, 5 ounces.

The Martins have two other children, Chasidy Lee, 12, and Jada Dale, 6.

The maternal grandparents are Stan and Marilyn Rice, and the paternal grandmother is Gean Martin, all local residents.

Mary Weise of Jonesboro, Ill., was a guest at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, David and Daisy Ferguson of Meadowlawn Drive.

The group traveled to Auburn, Ill., where they visited Weise's son, Sherwin Gibbs, and her wife, Marilyn. After departing, they traveled to Germantown, Ill., where they visited a cousin, James DeWitt.

Members of the Bunco Club of Mitchell met Thursday at the home of Karen Orr on State Street. The hostess served a soup and salad, and the group kept the Valentine's theme, she served heart-shaped cookies for dessert.

Following lunch, everyone enjoyed bunco.

Attending were: Mary McKinnon, Norma Jean Bennett, Jeri Schieb, Millie Smith, Julia Homola, Barbara Fulmer and Velma Ferrance. Prizes were won by McKinnon, Schieb and Ferrance.

Barbara Fulmer will be the March hostess.

Wanda Ogden of Ash Avenue was the February hostess for the Hills Terrace Birthday Club. Brunch was served in a Valentine's Day setting.

Valentine's bingo was played in place of the usual birthday bingo, because none of the members had a February birthday. Opal Davis, Jeri Schieb and Karen Orr were prizewinners.

Also present were Thelma Morelan and Micky Hiedrick.

Morelan will serve as March hostess.

Simon, Gephardt still owe debts on primaries

By Sabrina Eaton
Staff writer

WASHINGTON — More than a year after their failed presidential bids, House Majority Leader Richard A. Gephardt of St. Louis and Illinois Sen. Paul Simon of Makanda still owe campaign creditors almost $100,000.

Both campaigned in primaries, seeking the 1988 Democratic presidential nomination.

Gephardt's $50,328 bills include almost $5,000 to AT&T, more than $7,500 to Avis Rent-A-Car in Detroit, over $2,000 to utilities in Iowa, and more than $5,000 to a small New Hampshire bus company.

Simon has yet to pay $49,585 to an assortment of political consultants, printers, hotels and car dealers around the country.

Some of their creditors are getting angry.

Simon's debts include $4,000 to Purulot Courier, an $8,266 bill from U.S. Sprint, and more than $4,000 for cars rented from Ford dealerships in Massachusetts and Iowa.

Robert Wapula, president of a bus company that hauled the Gephardt campaign around New Hampshire, said the campaign has raised enough money to settle all its debts, but remaining bills are in dispute.

"Some of these are cases where we have not gotten the full documentation of bills that is required by the FEC, and others are disputes about whether the campaign ordered or used the services we were billed for," said McAuliffe.

He said the campaign sent out $15,000 in checks a few days ago, among them $5,600 to Wapula. The Gephardt campaign disagrees with Wapula's interest computations, and is having difficulty getting full details of the bill it owes Avis.

"Paying the thousands and thousands of bills the campaign accumulated has been a difficult process," said McAuliffe. "It is quite a tribute to Dick that a debt this size was retired so quickly."

He said his attorney laughed at him for trusting a politician in the first place and not demanding to be paid up front.

"It would probably be a waste of time taking him to court," said Wapula. "He might never set foot in New Hampshire again."

The manager of a Detroit Avis office that rented cars to the campaign was similarly irate. Gephardt's Jan. 31 filing with the Federal Election Commission indicates he still owes Avis $7,632.

"They paid for some of the cars they rented, but not all of it," said the manager, who would not give a name. "We referred the matter to our collection department in New York. It is a lot of money for us to be owed."

Terry McAuliffe, the Washington attorney and banker who chairs Gephardt's debt retirement drive, said the campaign has raised enough money to settle all its debts, but remaining bills are in dispute.

"Some of these are cases where we have not gotten the full documentation of bills that is required by the FEC, and others are disputes about whether the campaign ordered or used the services we were billed for," said McAuliffe.

hearing, residents have come forward to say battery casing material was not only used to pave alleys in Venice, but for driveways and streets throughout the area.

"People need to be given time to come forward with this information and then tests need to be done," Brown said.

Brown said a meeting this week that included Mel Wilmsmeyer, chairman and president of Magna Bank and Harold Cavins, president of the Granite City Board of Realtors, indicated real estate values have already been affected.

"Under Illinois law, if there is a known health hazard the prospective buyer must be provided with a disclosure of the health hazard," Brown said. "If an area is red-lined in as part of the contaminated area by the EPA, it will scare buyers away."

All of the downtown area is within the boundaries the EPA has marked as contaminated, but is not scheduled for cleanup because the EPA contends any lead on paved areas would have just washed down the storm sewers.

"But that smokestack has been belching out lead since 1903, before a lot of the area was paved or built over," Brown said. "What happens in the future if there is development and they start digging up contaminated soil?"

"The EPA plan doesn't address that. The time to do something about it is now, when the EPA is here with the money and inclination, and not in another 10 years."

Brown said the bottom line is a need for more blood tests.

"If (blood tests) find no problem, then the EPA should just clean up the parts of the city that have lead levels above 1,500 ppm or whatever level is a real danger."

Ratings-period programs fall short of substance

If we're seeing a singles' bar on the 10 p.m. news, it must be February—or some other ratings period, right?

Unfortunately so. In scenes so silly they could be skits from "Saturday Night Live," KTVI-TV (Channel 2) this month has run "Live Crime," KMOV-TV (Channel 4) has aired "The Singles Scene" and KSDK-TV (Channel 5) has shown its viewers "Happily Ever After."

I'll be happy to concede that in 1990s America, crime, living as a single and the instability of relationships are subjects of major importance. But historically, series on those subjects have presented little that is new. The subjects have been worked tirelessly into the ground over the past few years because they are perceived by news executives as topics that attract large audiences.

There is a new, and even more sinister, development in series programming. Channel 2 has scheduled something called the "St. Louis Family Newsreel" for today (Sunday) through Tuesday during the 10 p.m. news. It is billed as a local version of ABC's "America's Home Videos," and it might even be funny.

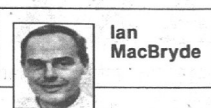

But in a newsreel? C'mon, folks.

Ironically, this comes from the station that a few months ago swore off series, suggesting that it simply would report the news to the best of its ability every night and attract viewers that way. It's a shame it doesn't seem to work.

I confess that I'm disappointed. I thought that when Nielsen began metering homes so as to provide a constant stream of ratings information 12 months a year, we wouldn't have to put up with this artificial news at regular intervals.

But it seems that advertisers' habits die hard. A source in the industry who does not wish to be identified says that from 60 percent to 65 percent of advertising buys on television still are based on the ratings during those designated ratings periods we always have suffered through: February, May, July and November.

One reason, of course, is that one of the major ratings services, Arbitron, does not use meters for its ratings. So, we're still stuck with the ridiculous series that pander to all our worst instincts and tell us almost nothing new about the world around us.

Young playwrights sought

Students are invited to participate in a playwrighting contest.

Any junior high, senior high or college student within a 50-mile radius of St. Louis can participate. The play's focus should be prehistoric people who lived on both sides of the Mississippi River.

Playwrights must submit scripts to Swiss Village Bookstore, 707 N. First St., by Feb. 28. Cash prizes will be awarded to the playwright and sponsoring school.

The contest was begun last year to commemorate the 225th anniversary of the founding of St. Louis.

The play should run 30 minutes. It will be performed by the winning school at the River-Faces Festival on May 19. The contest is sponsored by Swiss Village and Laclede's Landing.

Those who wish more information may call Elaine at (314) 231-2782 or Jincey at (314) 241-5875.

Tigers hand Warriors 7th straight loss

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Mike Waldo said his team was just doing what it does best and doing it well.

That's a simple formula for success, and it was enough for the Edwardsville Tigers to hand the Warriors their seventh straight loss, 79-71 Friday at Memorial Gymnasium. Edwardsville (12-9) got 28 points from Joe Blasig and 25 more from Jason Heien. The Tigers broke away from a 39-39 halftime deadlock and shot the ball extremely well in the fourth quarter to keep the Warriors away.

Granite City (9-13) heading into Saturday's final game against East St. Louis, got 21 points from Brian Smith and 15 more from Jeff Smith. But Jeff Smith was hampered with foul problems and the Tigers slowed the Warrior offense enough in the third quarter to take the lead for good.

"We did a lot of good things tonight," said Waldo. "They played pretty good defense, but we were able to get the ball down the floor in a hurry and get our shots off before they could get set up."

"It was kind of like the last time we played them except it happened a little sooner tonight," said Warrior coach Bill Ohlendorf, whose team hasn't won since Jan. 19. "We couldn't accent Jeff as much. He only had about an hour of practice with us this week. And if we're not ahead, we can't chase teams around as well with our big people."

The game started out in a shoot-first-ask-questions-later mode. The Warriors led 26-25 after one quarter as Joe Wallace made a pair of three-pointers. But the Tigers got three three-pointers of their own before senior Tom Price buried three more from long range in the second quarter, which ended in a 39-39 tie.

"They did what they do well," said Ohlendorf. "Price didn't

Devils, Trojans win at home

The Red Devils used a balanced attack to hold off Alton Marquette 80-73 in the regular-season finale Friday night in Venice.

Senior Doug Johnson, playing his last home game, led the Red Devils (22-5) with 22 points. Senior John White had 18 points and nine assists. Junior Erwin Claggett and sophomore Ivan Johnson each added 17 points. Mike Russell led Marquette (18-7) with 24 points while Brad Bohannon added 20.

Venice led 39-35 at halftime, but increased the lead to 67-56 after three quarters and hung on.

The Trojans scored an impressive 75-57 victory over Teutopolis on Friday in their last home game as junior Andre Mays pumped in 26 points. Brennan Wimberly had a great all-around game with 18 points, nine assists and six steals as the Trojans improved to 12-10 with their fourth straight win. The Wooden Shoes fell to 19-7.

In girls action, East St. Louis Lincoln left no doubts as the Tigerettes demolished Jerseyville 69-35 on Thursday in the Highland Sectional final. Raquel Ransom all but wrapped up the area scoring championship over Granite City's Jennifer Cavness with 24 points. Lincoln (22-0) will play Olney East Richard (21-7) on Monday in the Collinsville Super-Sectional.

Lincoln took a 17-2 lead in the first quarter against Jerseyville (26-2), which eliminated the Lady Warriors 69-26 on Tuesday.

hurt us much last time until late. And Heien has the dual ability to score from outside and drive to the basket. They worked the ball into the corner and penetrated from there quite often."

Edwardsville got some good defensive play from guard Marc Little in the third quarter as the Tigers took a 54-49 lead. Brian Smith gave the Warriors their last lead at 49-48 on a nice pass from his brother, but the Tigers made six free throws to end the quarter, then sank 12 of 15 free throws in the fourth quarter to go with 7 of 9 shooting from the field.

Skip Birdsong hit a three-point to trim the margin to 59-55, but the Warriors missed their next five shots and the Tigers quickly moved the lead back up to 67-55.

"A big part of the game was how we defended and pressed," said Waldo. "Little did a good job for us in the backcourt, because it's hard for us to defend them in their end because of the big kids. I know Jeff Smith was hurting and he probably wasn't in top condition."

(John) Van Buskirk is a key player for them. We had to real-

"And we missed some layups. They were giving us a lot inside and not fouling in exchange for some long shots at the other end. I'll always take that. Our big sophomores aren't always going to miss layups and they'll get fouled more as they get older and stronger."

Jeff Smith did lead everyone with 16 rebounds. He wore goggles to protect his injured eye.

Freeburg Regional better than ever

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

It's always among the better regional in the state. But this year the Freeburg Regional could be better than ever.

The boys Class A post-season gets going this week, and nowhere will the action be hotter than in Freeburg. Venice (21-5) prior to Friday's season finale is the top seed, but there are several teams with at least a reasonable chance of surviving the first leg on the road to the state tournament in Champaign on March 9-10.

"It's wide open this year," said Lebanon coach John Schieppe. "You can't spend much time looking back at what has happened during the season, but we've beaten everybody in this regional. So we feel pretty good about our chances."

The Greyhounds were 22-4 going into their last game Friday and are the highest-scoring team in the area with an 84.1 average. Every team in the regional took a winning record into the final weekend of the regular season except Louisville (8-12). The Wildcats will play Madison (11-10) prior to Friday in the opener on Monday at 7:30 p.m.

"We can't take Lovejoy for granted," said Madison coach Al Collins. "They scored 112 points in a game earlier this season. Anyone who can do that, no matter what the competition, is a team to be reckoned with. I know the kids are looking ahead to rematches with Venice and Lebanon, but we can't get complacent."

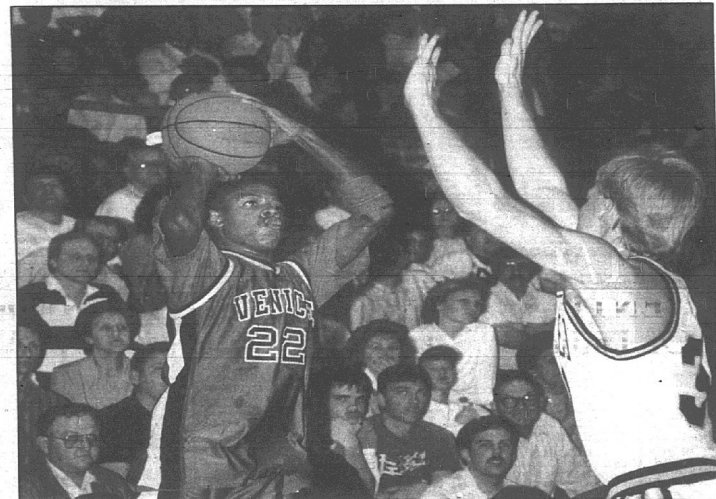

The Trojans bring one of the area's leading scorers in 6-0 junior Andre Mays (18.6 points per game). Mays also leads the area in steals with 110. Junior 5-5 guard Brennan Wimberly leads the area in assists and 6-junior Antonio Smith is one of the leading rebounders. And Madison has played a murderous schedule which should have them prepared.

"We could do a lot of damage," said Collins. "If any team overlooks us, it's not out of the question for us to beat them. We've held our own pretty well against some tough competition."

All of Madison's losses entering the weekend came on the road to Venice, Collinsville, East St. Louis, Springfield, Calvary, Belleville East, Althoff (twice), Lebanon, Pinckneyville and Jacksonville. And only the Collinsville game was really a rout. The Trojans also own six wins against Class A schools, plus wins over Gibault and Okawville.

Lebanon takes on Dupu (11-9) in Tuesday's first game at 6:30. The Greyhounds are led by senior Steve Ogden (20.3 points) and senior Doug Schieppe (18.5). Senior Tony Formoso is one of the area's leading three-point shooters, something Lebanon is very good at.

"I thought it would be a good season if we won 20," Schieppe said. "We're not as good defend-sively as some teams, but our margin of success is as good as most teams. We would like another shot at Wescelin, and we'll have to win this regional to get that. We would love the opportunity to play Venice on a neutral court. But we can't look past Dupu. They can do a good job against anybody."

The Greyhounds lost 77-75 at Venice early in the year, then slammed the Devils 90-65 in the Sparta Tournament last month.

"The Lebanon-Dupu winner will meet the winner of Tuesday's second game pitting Freeburg (15-9) against Althoff (13-10). The Crusaders are newcomers to the Class A field.

Venice will play the Madison-Lovejoy winner at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. The Devils, who won the regional three years in a row before losing to East St. Louis Assumption last year, are led by super junior Erwin Claggett, fifth in the area scoring race with 22.7 points per game. He also leads the team in rebounding and is a 76.4 percent free-throw shooter.

"Claggett and Julian Winfield (Cardinal Ritter) are the best juniors in the area," said Venice coach Clinton Harris. "And Erwin is probably one of the top five players around."

"We're ready to play. I didn't think we would be 21-5 at the beginning of the year because of our size. But everybody has improved. John White has become the quarterback on offense. Doug Johnson has improved his outside shooting, and Charles Miller and Ivan Johnson have rebounded well."

Harris is glad to get the first-round bye so he can look at the other teams.

"This is always one of the toughest regions in the state, and this is one of the better years in a long time," he said.

Friday, Feb. 23
Championship game
Winner Game 4 vs. Winner Game 5, 7:30 p.m.
Win-loss records are for teams prior to Friday.

"Lebanon had a great game against us and Madison has improved a lot since we played them (a 61-52 Red Devil win at Venice on Dec. 21). But we'd like to get back on top after losing last year."

The winners of Tuesday's games meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the semifinals, with the winner meeting Wednesday's winner for the title Friday at 7:30. The regional winner will probably meet Wescelin (12-9) and third in the state) in the Vandalia Sectional semifinals on Feb. 27. Wescelin is led by Iowa-bound Paul Lusk, the area's leading scorer with 28.9 points per game. The Warriors are heavy favorites in the Greenville Regional.

"I don't know how we compare with some of the regionals up north, but this has to be the toughest in our area," said Schieppe. "It would be interesting to see how many wins the teams in our regional have compared with any of the others."

NOTES: Going into this weekend's action, the seven teams going to Freeburg have a 101-60 record, an average record of 14-8 for each team. Madison won the regional — which has rotated among Freeburg, Dupu and Columbia — 10 straight years (1976-85) and won two state titles (1977, 1981). Venice has won it six times (1975-76, 1984-85) and has won two state titles (1975, 1987). Those two won it 16 straight years until Assumption won last year. The Pioneers advanced to the state quarterfinals, but the school closed last June. Lovejoy won the regional in 1972, the first year of Class A competition. This regional winner has won its section 14 times in 18 years and gone to state nine times, with four state champions, one third place (Venice 1979) and one fourth (Madison 1980).

King ends season with loss at state

CHAMPAIGN — Ryan King's stay in the Class AA State Wrestling Tournament was a short one.

King, the sophomore 105-pounder from Granite City High School, dropped his preliminary round match 12-8 to sophomore Geoff Carfagnini of Arlington Heights Hersey on Friday morning. King (22-12) saw his season end when Carfagnini was subsequently beaten 12-1 by sophomore Ryan Ferguson (41-2) of Roselle Lake Park in first-round action Friday afternoon.

Only four area wrestlers were still in action Saturday's competition. Cahokia's Lance Taylor (135) and Nehemia Sims (145) both made it to the semifinals while Collinsville's Steve Trimble, Edwardsville's Derek Baugh and Cahokia's Joe Harris were scheduled for wrestlingback competition.

A wrapup of results will appear later this week. Semifinals and championship matches were set for Saturday afternoon and evening at the Assembly Hall.
